Chris Creahan
Vice President, Asset Management
330.255.2136 | ccreahan@sequoia-financial.com

As a Managing Director in Sequoia's Asset Management Department, Chris gets to work with the firm's advisors and clients. When working with advisors, his role is to help make sure that they have everything necessary to provide comprehensive asset management services to clients. Chris also works with the firm's clients, helping them to navigate their personal financial lives while providing unbiased financial advice and wealth planning strategies. Chris's goal is to help ensure the firm's advisors are positioned in the best manner to help clients achieve their own, unique, definition of financial success.
